Salvation Army Plans Auction to Raise Needed Funds

OUR TOWN: Last Saturday this column devoted some words about Harrisburg's need to get itself re-armed to handle any industrial prospects that might look with favor on our community.

The community should get together so that all the tedious details connected with such a venture could be handled adequately, and not by just a few as has been the case in the past.

And one thing of importance that fits into this picture of having the proper community when the chance for economic betterment knocks at our door is a good, active Salvation Army post — and again I'm not kidding.

While the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other groups are working to better our city, the Salvation Army works quietly rehabilitating men and women.

This most worthwhile organization has definite part in any community, especially in one the size of Harrisburg. It reaches into spots that the church doesn't reach and does a most admirable job that few know about. And you'd be surprised at the little amount of money it takes to run a post here.

Yes, Timotheus thinks that a definite part of any community development program here must include a working Salvation Army post — to help restore men to being assets, instead of liabilities, in our community.

And this might come as a surprise to you: The Salvation Army post in Harrisburg has operated now for three months without money, and it cannot continue under these circumstances.

The drive last fall fell far short and it isn't time for another drive. But a way has been figured out to raise money, Salvation Army officials hope, that will be painless to the public. Here is what has been planned:

On the evening of June 30 an auction will be held on the court house lawn. Members of the Salvation Army advisory board, composed of some of your local citizens, are contacting people for items to auction.

The Salvation will accept anything that is saleable with the exception of used clothing—both new and used items.

Almost every business and home has an item or two that is of little or no use to them but would bring out a bid at an auction.

When contacted, you can make your arrangements with a board member to have the items picked up. If not and you want to donate, just call No. 871, which is the number at the home of Lt. John Kimmons, head of the local post. Your items will be picked up starting June 27.

Local Areas on Priority List For Hospital Aid

Harrisburg - Eldorado and Rosiclare have been placed on a priority list for federal aid on general hospitals following a survey showing number of needed beds by the State Health department at Springfield.

The survey will be considered by the State Advisory Hospital Council June 29 before it is submitted to federal authorities for final approval. Dr. Roland R. Cross, State Health Director, stated.

Federal funds of $3,400,000 will be available in Illinois after July 1, Cross stated, to communities with top priorities for construction of hospital facilities.

Communities which are eligible on the basis of need and priority may receive up to one-third of the project cost from the federal allocation. The remainder will be provided by contribution from individuals and organizations in the hospital areas.

Kenneth Moore is Granted Fellowship

Kenneth Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Moore of this city, has been granted a fellowship by the Presbyterian Board of Education for graduate study, and has received a year's leave of absence from the music department of Davidson college in North Carolina.

Prof. Moore is studying at the Eastman School of Music, New York, working toward his Ph.D. degree which he expects to get at the end of the next academic year. He will return to Davidson college at the fall term of 1956.

House Group Rebels Against Reserve Bill

Sends Watered-Down Version of Measure To Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Armed Services Committee rebelled against its chairman today and voted to send a watered-down version of President Eisenhower's compulsory military reserve plan to a subcommittee for five days of study.

By a 16-14 vote, the committee rejected an urgent plea by Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) for immediate approval of his compromise bill.

Members complained at a stormy session that they had not had time to consider the new proposal which Vinson introduced Monday.

Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) of a subcommittee which had worked on the reserve plan for two months said Vinson's action, taken without consulting subcommittee members, was a "rebuke" to the subcommittee.

The subcommittee's version subsequently was stalled in the House after Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) succeeded in tacking on an amendment forbidding segregation in the National Guard.

Vinson's compromise seeks to bypass the segregation issue by eliminating an administration provision to assign compulsory reservists to the National Guard. It also eliminates universal military training features that were in the subcommittee's original bill.

Vinson told the committee he "must insist that we have some action" immediately on his compromise.

"The leadership of the House is anxious to have it acted on today," he said.

The leadership plan was to take it up in the House Thursday, he said.

"This is a watered-down version," Brooks insisted. "We may as well face it."

"I do not think by any means anyone can classify this as watered-down," Vinson argued.

He said it would build a reserve of men with at least two years active military duty and would result in a "more virile, better trained reserve" than the original plan which included six months training for pre-draft age youths.

The bill now goes to the Brooks subcommittee which must report back to the full committee within five days. The subcommittee is expected to start work Wednesday.

The committee rebellion against Vinson came as Mr. Eisenhower discussed the reserve program at his weekly meeting with Republican legislative leaders.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said afterwards that the administration still has hopes of getting a bill which will be adequate for the security of the country.

Other congressional news: The Eisenhower administration tried unsuccessfully to persuade the House Ways and Means Committee to give a full and public airing to Democratic proposals to liberalize the social security program. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said the Democratic plan would cost more than $2,000,000 a year. She said it should be given "full and open hearings" before being sent to the House floor.

Before the committee by a 15-10 party-line vote rejected a Republican move to make the hearings public. Earlier, President Eisenhower told GOP legislative leaders that he thought the hearings should be public.

Dixon-Yates: Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee said the Dixon-Yates private power project was promoted under "highly questionable" circumstances. He told a Senate group that Adolph B. Wenzell, official of the First Boston Corp. which arranged Dixon-Yates financing, was a consultant to the Bureau of Reclamation at a time when the Bureau was discussing the project.

Receive Judgment In Circuit Court

A judgment of $1,690 and costs were entered in Saline County Circuit court Monday in favor of L. A. Wasson and J. L. Pickering, Trustees for the Shareholders of The Wasson Coal Co. Defendant was Frank Cobin of Elkhart.

The judgment, granted by Circuit Judge C. E. Wright, was the result of a suit filed against Cobin for rental on the Wasson mine site.

The suit stated Cobin had purchased from the Wasson Coal company materials and was to have use of the mine site free for a specified time. It asked for rental from Jan. 1, 1953.

The court yesterday determined the amount of rentals due. DeWitt Twente and George Lee were attorneys for the plaintiffs and Helton and Reese of Carbondale were the defendant's attorneys.

There was no court today, but sessions are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday.

THIS OLD HOUSE "AIN'T" GONNA BE NO MORE!—Work of tearing away this old home on East Locust street, known as the Essie Russell property, is well underway and is part of a program being carried on by the Harrisburg City Administration. Commissioner Don Williams states that the city council and Fire Chief L. G. Martin are working on a program to clear away the dilapidated buildings in Harrisburg. Agreements have been reached with the owners of the Russell property and also the Nellie Seten property, also on East Locust, to have the buildings razed. Arrangements have been made to get the work completed at no cost to the owners, the razing being done for the salvagable materials. Frank Tarlton is wrecking the Russell property and Willard Fritts the Seten house. Chief Martin reported today. Martin also said there were other buildings in Harrisburg that needed to be torn away and efforts were being made to complete arrangements to get the work accomplished. (Daily Register Staff Photos)

Leaders Set Target Date for Adjournment of Legislature

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Administration leaders, briefed by Gov. William G. Stratton, today embarked on a legislative schedule they hope will bring the 69th General Assembly to an early windup.

Senate and House leaders met with the governor or the weekly "policy" briefing Monday night. Afterward, they announced the "target date" for final adjournment of the Legislature will be next Tuesday or Wednesday, June 28 or 29.

This would avoid the last-minute rush of legislation and the all-night carnival of the traditional June 30 "sine die" adjournment.

Stratton managed to avoid the wild June 30 windup in handling of the 1953 legislature.

Under the time-table outlined by the administration leaders, the proposed amendments of the judicial and revenue articles of the constitution were to be called up today.

The judicial article amendment, or plan for revising the court system, was expected to find rough going on the House floor. The House Executive committee considerably amended the joint bar associations' resolution favored by the administration. Then the committee voted the changed plan to the House floor with recommendation either for or against passage.

But the governor was reported as determined as ever to put the court revision plan before the people at a 1956 general election referendum.

Worried About Amendment

One administration leader said the governor was worried about the effect of an amendment tacked on the judicial plan by Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna). The Powell change would permit the Legislature to add later any new type of court it felt was needed in the judicial system.

The judicial article amendment as it now stands would streamline the court system into three levels—trial, appellate and supreme—with all trial level courts branches of the Circuit Court. But courts would not be reduced substantially in number as originally proposed.

The judicial amendment would provide for non-partisan election of judges instead of the present political election.

The revenue article, in the Senate, was expected to pass handsily.

Wednesday, House Speaker Warren L. Wood (R-Plainfield) hopes to take up the revenue program, starting with the constitutional revenue article amendment if it has been passed by the Senate.

Then he would call the Stratton-Daley tax program bills already at passage stage: The bill to permit cities to levy a 1/2-cent city sales tax; increase the state sales tax 1/2-cent for two years; and provide a 2 1/2-cent "use" tax on goods bought out-of-state. The 5 per cent

Political Cohort of Former New York Mayor is Convicted

NEW YORK (UP)—A federal court jury Monday convicted James J. Moran, political cohort of former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer of evading $131,307 in federal income taxes.

Moran could be sentenced to 15 more years in jail and fined $15,000 for the crime. He now is serving a 12 1/2 to 25 year sentence for federal perjury.

Woman Out of Work Gives $50 Reward For Return of $5,500

CHICAGO (UP)—Mrs. Beverly Cruse, 42, gave a $50 reward to a bus driver who returned $5,500 in cash she left on his bus.

"I'm sorry I can't give you more," she told the driver, "I'm out of work."

Jasper V. Hall Rites Wednesday At Ridgway

Funeral services for Jasper V. Hall, prominent Ridgway citizen who died yesterday at 12:15 a. m. in the McLeansboro nursing home, will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Baptist church in Ridgway. Rev. Roy Reynolds, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Irvy, will conduct the service and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

The body will be taken from the Harrisburg funeral home to the church at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday to lie in state until the funeral hour.

Mr. Hall was born in Hamilton county Dec. 3, 1886, the son of William and Nancy Witters Hall. He spent most of his life in Ridgway where he owned an insurance agency for more than 50 years. He was converted at the age of 14 and became a member of the Ellis Mount Baptist church in Hamilton county and in 1904 moved his membership to the Ridgway Baptist church.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. Harry Rude, Pontiac, Mich., and Kenneth Hall, Chicago; three grandchildren and one great-grand child, and two brothers, Otha Hall, Owein, Iowa, and Raymond Hall, Long Beach, Calif.

Mr. Hall was also a member of Masonic lodge No. 816 at Ridgway for the past 48 years.

Godfrey Resigns From Reserves

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Naval Reserve has lost one of its most famous officers.

Radio-television star Arthur Godfrey has resigned his commission as commander in the reserve, the Navy announced Monday.

Godfrey served as an enlisted man in the Navy from 1920 to 1924. He also put in a hitch with the Coast Guard from 1927 to 1930.

He was commissioned a lieutenant commander in 1950 with the designation of naval aviator.

His resignation was effective May 31.

Howard Winters, 34, Dies Following Injuries in Mine

Howard Winters, 34, son of Mrs. Opal Winters of Elizabethtown, died Monday morning in the Memorial hospital at Jasper, Ind. Death was due to injuries received in a 16-foot fall from a passenger lift in a mine shaft at Shoals, Ind., Saturday night.

Officials said Winters, a foreman, lost his footing. He died in Jasper Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture and other injuries.

The body is being returned to Elizabethtown to lie in state at the home of his mother.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Mission church in Elizabethtown. Rev. Raymond Rose will officiate and burial will be in the Elizabethtown Odd Fellows cemetery attended by rites of the Paul C. Rowan Post No. 571, American Legion.

Senate Advances Bill To Boost Police Force

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois Senate today advanced a score of House bills to passage stage, including the bill to boost the state police force from 500 to 600 men.

There was no debate on the state police bill, which has been made one of the "must pass" bills by the administration before final adjournment of the Legislature next week.

President Signs Reciprocal Trade Measure

Eisenhower Will Face Pressure To Lower Tariffs

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill granting him the power he wanted to lower tariffs. But some Democrats said the new law actually put him under "terrific pressure" to raise them.

It revises, revamps and extends to June 30, 1958, the reciprocal trade program launched on June 12, 1934. The program, previously renewed nine times, expired at midnight, June 12.

The new law grants the President's request for authority to lower or raise 5 per cent a year for three years to expand world trade.

But it includes provisions which will make it easier than at any time since the 21-year program was launched for American industries to press demands on the President for higher tariffs to protect them from injury.

President Eisenhower did not recommend these provisions. But the White House raised no objection when the Senate wrote them into the administration bill after it passed the House.

Some Democrats protested that the President had yielded to "protectionists."

Under the reciprocal trade program the President is given discretionary authority—within specified limits—to negotiate tariff-cutting agreements with other nations and to raise tariffs or set imports quotas on competing foreign products to protect American industries from injury.

The President's discretionary authority is left intact under the new law. But it broadens the grounds for industry to prove actual or threatened injury, and thus persuades the tariff commission to recommend presidential use of the "escape clause" to cancel past tariff-cutting agreements.

The new law also opens a new avenue for industry to press demands for protection. It allows the President to impose quotas against foreign products when the Office of Defense Mobilization reports imports are endangering national security by hurting defense industries.

Budget Deficit May Put Brake on Tax Reduction Plans

WASHINGTON (UP)—Updated Treasury figures disclosed today that the administration is sticking to its January estimate of a $2,400,000,000 budget deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

If this budget outlook persists, it could put at least a temporary brake on hopes and plans for tax reduction in the 1956 election year. However, it would not rule out a tax cut effective July 1, when the 1957 fiscal year begins, if the administration could put its 1957 budget in shape to absorb one.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey has submitted up-to-date budget estimates to the Senate Finance committee in connection with the coming request for legislation to raise the ceiling on the national debt.

According to Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), these new estimates are the same as those contained in President Eisenhower's Budget Message to Congress last January. They forecast federal income in fiscal 1956 at $60,000,000,000, spending at $62,400,000,000, and the deficit at $2,400,000,000.

HARLAN SEATS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Seats, 515 West Raymond street, who was graduated at commencement exercises held Sunday, June 12, at Southern Illinois university, where he received a Bachelor of Science in Education degree. His parents and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fife, attended the commencement.

Jury Dooms Blonde Divorcee to Hang

LONDON (UP)—A jury today convicted and doomed to death a trim, love-starved model who murdered one of her two lovers when he cheated at her own game of passion.

A panel of 10 men and two women took only 23 minutes to decide that willowy, 28-year-old Mrs. Ruth Ellis should hang for killing her motor car racing paramour.

The blonde divorcee admitted she shot David Blakely, 25, on Easter Sunday because he tried to woo another woman. She was living with a second lover at the time, businessman Desmond Cussens.

Defense pleas that black jealousy "unseated reason" failed to save the beautiful blonde. The defense pleaded the victim of the lover's quadrangle "had become an absolute necessity to this young woman."

Senate Votes To Increase Size Marine Corps

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democrats hoped today that public opinion will force President Eisenhower to reverse himself and accept a Senate vote to increase the size of the Marine Corps.

The Senate's Democratic forces scored a surprise victory Monday when, by a headline 40-to-39 vote, they pushed through an amendment to the defense appropriation bill providing funds for the Marine Corps increase.

But they conceded that even if the House concurs in the move, there would be no way to force the President to spend the extra funds.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), sponsor of the amendment, said he was relying on "the force of public opinion" to make the President keep Marine Corps strength at 215,000 men in the next 12 months. The administration had planned to cut the corps to 193,000 men by mid-1956.

With his surprise victory on the Marine Corps, Symington withdrew another amendment adding 200 million dollars to the defense bill to increase fighter plane production. This was after the Air Force announced it has recommended stepped-up production of two supersonic fighter planes—the F101 and the F104—as a result of recently disclosed aviation advances by the Russians.

Except for the Marine Corps amendment, the $31,882,915,726 bill passed generally to the original requests made by the President. The largest share of the money—$14,739,763,170—goes to the Air force.

Program for Eldorado-Raleigh Park Celebration

Complete plans for the second annual Eldorado-Raleigh Park District July 4th celebration at Karel park were revealed today by Mrs. Jess Evans, secretary of the park district.

Entertainment is scheduled to get underway at 10:30 a. m., with two string bands on hand. The musical units are Ray Duke and his Blackstone Cowboys, featuring Dora Belle and Pappy Witherspoon and the Lloyd Brothers.

The feature patriotic address will be made by State Treasurer Warren Wright and Rep. Clyde Choate of Anna, a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, will be master of ceremonies during the program.

Also on the program during the day will be Rev. John Henshaw and choir and gospel singers from Mt. Pleasant church.

Throughout the day there will be square dancing at the new pavilion at Karel park; fishing is said to be excellent at the Eldorado reservoir; there is lots of playground equipment for the kiddies; there will be a pony ride on the grounds and a plentiful supply of ice water will be available.

It was pointed out that there are a large number of picnic tables and cooking facilities and the public is invited to spend the day at Karel park on July 4. Free bus service will be available from both Eldorado and Raleigh throughout the day.

A big fireworks display about 9 p. m. will close out the day-long program.

Boyke Funeral Wednesday 9 a. m.

Rosary will be said today at 7:30 p. m. at the Gaskins funeral home for Mrs. Steve Boyke who died Sunday at 4:30 p. m. in the Lightner hospital.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's church. Rev. T. G. Bruns will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Molotov Accepts Proposals by West Ministers

Big Four Chiefs To Preside Over Talks in Rotation

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov apparently has agreed to a proposal that would let President Dwight D. Eisenhower serve as chairman for the first meeting of next month's "summit conference" in Geneva, it was disclosed today.

The proposal was one of several submitted to the Soviet foreign minister Monday by the foreign ministers of the Big Three Western powers gathered in San Francisco for the 10th anniversary of the United Nations.

The Big Four foreign ministers met Monday night to talk it over. Sources close to the British and American delegations said Molotov made no objection to the proposals, but indicated his government would find them acceptable.

According to these sources, the proposals were:

1. The chief aim of the meeting would be to provide an atmosphere that would help lessen world tensions, rather than negotiate specific problems.

2. The Big Four chiefs of state will preside over the sessions in rotation. President Eisenhower will be the first chairman, followed by the French, British and Russian chiefs of state.

3. The meeting should last four to six days. The exact length must be decided upon ahead of time.

4. The chiefs of state should outline in their opening statements what they consider to be the main causes of world tension.

Will Suggest Procedures

5. As the meetings progress, the chiefs of state should suggest the procedures to follow in negotiating these problems.

6. After the Big Four chiefs of state conclude their meeting, the Big Four foreign ministers should then take over and continue as long as necessary.

Attending the meeting were Molotov, U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Minister Harold MacMillan.

Only a few hours before the foreign ministers met, the United Nations opened the first session of its 10th meeting in the city of its birth.

The principal speaker was the President of the United States—a grave-voiced Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Delegates listened attentively while the President pleaded with the world to dismantle its "terrible apparatus of fear... mistrust and weapons" and to pursue the cause of peace.

It was clear from the applause that punctuated the President's speech that the delegates warmly seconded his views.

Felco Van Kleffens, who is presiding over the meeting, asked the delegates in their speeches to refrain from offering resolutions, to use "moderation" and to avoid crises.

Construct Temporary By-Passes for Two Bridges on Rt. 45

Work of constructing temporary by-passes at two bridges on Route 45 between Carrier Mills and Stonefort is underway, preliminary to the building of new, wider bridges.

The work is at the bridge crossing South Fork and another about a mile south.

A part of the dirt work for the detour roadway has been done and considerable construction on the temporary bridges is complete.

UN Still Symbol of Hope

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
In the great flush of emotion that attended the close of World War II, the United Nations, newly born, became the symbol of hope for a bright new world from which war would be banished.

After ten of the most turbulent peacetime years in modern history, the U. N. is still that symbol. But there is a more realistic understanding of its limitations.

There U. N. is above all a forum where men of many lands may discuss their problems with one another, and their differences.

Often it has been stressed that the agency gives them this chance to talk. But what is really important is not just that they can talk but that they want to talk in the U. N.

As Walter Lippman has pointed out, no nation has resigned from the U. N. and many more would join if they could. Only Russia boycotted it briefly, returning quickly when it saw the handicap of being on the outside.

The U. N., of course, is a propaganda sounding board for many countries, most particularly the Communist lands. But it is also a unique outlet for the complaints of small nations against big. And it is the living embodiment of man's desire that nations hereafter shall get along with each other, somehow, without resort to major war.

In the U. N. negotiations never cease. They may halt for a time, but they always can be resumed. No diplomat is handed his passport and ordered home from U. N. headquarters when talks break down. Diplomats from all member nations can take part in discussions, no matter what offenses may be charged against their countries.

It is not just an association of like-minded peoples, but of peoples of many political and religious faiths. In this very basic sense it is a universal organization.

Because it has remained universal through all the titanic struggles of the cold war, it continues to symbolize men's hopes for peace. The moment it comes to represent only non-Communist lands its universality ends and it becomes in effect a mere alliance.

As true statesmen on both sides of the Iron Curtain want to keep it universal. Especially since the great advances in nuclear weapons, they feel the insistent pressures of ordinary folk the world over against any course that should plunge the globe into war again.

The U. N. is their meeting ground. They fear to abandon it. For to do so would be to admit failure when such an admission might spell doom for all civilization.

This is why the U. N. has endured through the tumultuous years 1945-1955. This is why it has survived the disillusionments and disappointments of those who saw it at the start as some sort of magic preserver of the peace.

It is not a peace enforcement agency, and as now constituted cannot be. For the U. N. has no enforcement army of its own, and any of five great powers may veto punitive action against itself or any lesser nation dependent upon it.

Realistically, we of the free nations do not count on the U. N. to safeguard the peace. The NATO pact and all the related defensive arrangements in the Middle and Far East serve that objective.

But we, like our adversaries in Moscow and Peking, understand that armies and alliances are not enough today. That men yearning for peace demand that their hopes be given brighter substance.

The United Nations provides that substance.

Club Lapel Pins Blossom As Boom for Ike's Campaign

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A campaign to finance and force President Dwight D. Eisenhower to run for a second term of office has already been started among his White House staff.

This has been done somewhat on the q. t. Also, it was done without the President's knowledge or consent.

The news leaked out in Washington last week as a few members of the palace guard began to appear in public with little plastic pins in their coat lapel buttonholes reading "Club."

The bottom, horizontal line of the capital L extended below the smaller letters ub.

The first one was noticed gleaming on the dark blue suit of Gov. Harold Stassen, foreign operations administrator who soon becomes the unofficial Cabinet "Secretary of Peace."

ANOTHER PIN WAS WORN by Homer H. Gruenther, assistant to the Assistant to the President, Gov. Sherman Adams, and a brother of NATO commander in Chief Alfred M. Gruenther.

The civilian Gruenther was a little shy in explaining what the Club pin was all about. He kissed it off with the comment, "Oh, it's just a little club that we have."

From Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the President, came the first explanation. General Persons wasn't wearing his pin, explaining it was home on his other suit. But he belonged, he said, and so did most of the other members of the White House staff.

The correct, full name of the Club, he explained, is "The 150 Club." Now this is neat, but it's also tricky, so follow closely.

"C" is the Roman numeral for 100, as every fourth grader should know. "L" is the Roman numeral for 50. "CL" is 150. Get it?

All right. Each cell, or Club unit is supposed to have 150 members. Every member of the Club—and here is the gimmick—is supposed to go out and start a unit of his own with another 150 members.

NOBODY KNOWS just how this thing started. Someone whose letter has now been conveniently lost—presumably the button manufacturer—sent in a flock of the Club emblems and asked for a White House blessing. The original plan was to get $150 from each member. Nobody took that seriously.

The buttons finally ended up in the hands of one of the Filipino mess attendants at the White House. He started peddling them for $1.50 and sold out.

The arithmetic of this thing is terrific. The pins cost a cent apiece, so the profit on the first Club of 150 members would be $224.50. One thousand Clubs would make $224,500. It would all supposedly be turned in to the Republican Finance Committee to help renominate Eisenhower.

But GOP headquarters say they never heard of the Club and to date they have received no money.

General Persons, asked if he knew about this, said: "He probably doesn't. If he did, he'd give somebody hell."

This Club idea is reminiscent of other trick schemes which have been thought up to finance political activities.

There was, for instance, President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "One Thousand Club," for the 1944 campaign. A thousand members were supposed to give $1,000 apiece to raise one million dollars.

This goal was way too high. Only 291 members were ever signed up and some of them didn't give the full $1,000.

IN THE 1948 CAMPAIGN, Beardsley Ruml, father of the pay-as-you-go income tax collection scheme and treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, dreamed up a political financing plan at a lower level.

He proposed that ordinary voters buy memberships in the party of their choice at $5 a head. He put it on the basis of being a civic duty to clean up campaign contributions.

If half of the 60 million voters paid up, there would be 150 million dollars to divide between the two major parties. Conservative, Ruml hoped he could get 400,000 Democrats to give $5 apiece, to raise two million dollars. But he never reached that goal.

The CIO Political Action Committee and the AFL Labor League for Political Education have for some years worked on their 15 million or members to give a dollar apiece to finance their campaigns.

The best they were ever able to do—in 1950—was to raise a little over one million dollars. But they're still trying.

Maybe the Eisenhower Club idea will catch on and do better.

Legion Asks VA
To Expand Veterans
Hospital at Marion

HERRIN, Ill. — Southern Illinois district of the American Legion wants the Veterans Administration to expand its hospital at Marion. The 25th district met here Sunday and passed a resolution calling for facilities for 250 more patients at the hospital. The resolution said the Veterans Administration built the original hospital for 500 patients but now the hospital serves an area which has 150,000 veterans.

Charles Schmaker, Murphysboro, was elected commander of the 25th district. Tony Picano, Christopher, was elected Vice-Commander and Paul Jones, Herrin, was named Sergeant at Arms.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Every one helps his neighbor and says to his brother, "Take Courage."—Isa. 41:6.

Even in modern days we have seen nations that had been ravaged by war make speedy recovery by the formula mentioned by the great prophet. That spirit makes a good neighborhood and a good and prosperous nation.

Whether you use a paint brush or a roller, paint in strips 18 to 24 inches wide to avoid streaks and overlap marks.

Air-Cooled Easy Chair Popular at Summer Markets

CHICAGO — An air-cooled easy chair that will be in the stores by mid-July was one of the most popular models at the opening day of the summer furniture markets.

As the temperature rose to the mid-80s, buyers were eager for a demonstration of the English-style lounge chair by Shaw Manufacturing Co. which blows cool air around the sitter.

When you sit down, a contact switch starts a small electric fan motor which blows air through a rubber grid concealed beneath the seat and back cushions. The air is pushed through the upholstery fabric and circulates around your body.

The motor is concealed underneath the chair and can be turned to various speeds by a switch beneath the right arm. The chair comes in a tweedy-looking synthetic-fabric or in a variety of colored linens.

Its developers predict that the same principle will be introduced soon in mattresses and automobile seats.

The air-cooled chair was one of a number of furniture gadgets introduced today.

A television bed by Mengel Co. has a pull-out tray to hold refreshments while you watch TV. There also are electrical outlets so you can switch the program without getting up.

One manufacturer introduced a number of new gimmicks, including a four-foot dining table that has drawers on each end that pull out and support detachable slabs of matching plastics. The slabs add another three feet to the table length and can be stored in a closet when not in use.

Davy Crockett left his imprint on new juvenile lines. One firm claims that a 20-minute rest in its new maple contour chair is equivalent to a two-hour nap.

Another company introduced a cedar chest with a liquor storage cabinet built in and another showed a 54-inch mahogany buffet-bar that rolls from room to room. Three plastic-topped snack tables fit into either end and sliding doors open for storage space.

New Mexico possesses the only national park completely underground—Carlsbad Caverns.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

Here is a pleasant way to overcome those plate discomforts. PASTERETH, an improved powder, sprinkled on upper and lower plates holds them firmer so that they feel more comfortable. No gummy, rooney, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTERETH today at any drug counter.

Good Neighbor Club Meets With Mrs. A. P. Gollhofer

The Good Neighbor club met June 15 at the home of Mrs. A. P. Gollhofer with 15 members present. The meeting was called to order with group singing led by Mrs. Belle Allen. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Violet Malone, and roll call was answered with a favorite color.

The door prize was awarded to Mrs. Louise Gollhofer. After each member had done a pantomime of a certain day of the year, the recreation committee conducted several quizzes and contests.

The hostess, assisted by Belle Allen and Elma Drott served delectable refreshments of fruit jello topped with cream, cookies and cold drinks to those mentioned and to the following: Mrs. Maryema Guye, Mrs. Lavern Sittig, Mrs. Velta Winders, Mrs. June Upton, Mrs. Lizzie Drott, Mrs. Edith Small, Mrs. Esther Lockwood, Mrs. Myrtle Henn, Mrs. Mabel Hays, Miss Mary M. Small, a visitor, Mrs. Edith Hays of Michigan, Sandra Hubs, Phyllis Ann and Charles A. Drott, Gene and Bubby Sittig and Darlene Guye.

The family party will be at Karel Park July 8, and the next regular meeting will be at the home of the president, Mrs. Maryema Guye, 106 East State Street in Harrisburg.

The club will appear on the Coffee club on WSIL-TV July 16.

Mrs. Orlie Brothers Hostess to Home Bureau Unit
The High School unit of the Saline County Home Bureau met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Orlie Brothers with 17 present. Mrs. Albert Webb was assistant hostess.

Roll call was answered with suggestions for summer menus. Miss Lucille Lee gave the lesson on pressing and the major topic, "Where We Get Our Vitamins," was given by the home adviser, Mrs. Mary Harper.

After recreation refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Miss Rita Hines Becomes Bride of Donald Karns

Miss Rita Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines of Equality, became the bride of Donald Lee Karns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Karns of Gary, Ind., on May 28 at 2 p. m. in a double ring ceremony.

The wedding was performed at the Methodist church in Equality with the Rev. J. W. Benton officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown of French imported lace over a taffeta petticoat and hoops. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion edged in lace and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with white satin streamers tied in lovers knots.

Patsy Hines, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a pale blue gown of net over taffeta. In her hair she wore a band of blue flowers trimmed with net and velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of painted daisies with pink satin streamers tied in lovers' knots.

David Karns, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Barney Barnett of Equality and Cecil Church of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Maxine Joyner sang "Because," "I'll Walk Beside You" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Sue Stuart, pianist.

A reception was held in the church basement where the couple cut a lovely three-tiered wedding cake. Hostesses were Mrs. Mary Benton of West Frankville, Mrs. Cletus Wargel of Evansville, Ind., Mrs. Ralph Wealey and Mrs. Jean Joyner.

Delta Alpha Chapter Members and Husbands Enjoy Picnic Supper
Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson were host and hostess to Delta Alpha chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority members Sunday afternoon.

Upon arrival of all guests, Shirley Gaskins, assistant hostess, presented each team of four a list of articles for a scavenger hunt. The guests were to meet at the Harker Miley farm as soon as they had found all their items which included, among other articles, a 1928 class ring, a St. Louis phone directory, and a glass hen's nest egg.

The most successful team was Mr. and Mrs. Morris Skaggs and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vineyard who received gifts. The losers had not searched in vain, however, for awaiting all the participants of the scavenger hunt was a delicious picnic supper of barbecued ham, baked beans, potato salad, Cokes and cup cakes.

Present to enjoy the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Morris Skaggs, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Crews, Dr. and Mrs. John Slightner, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rushing, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barter Jr., Mrs. John Humm, Mrs. Ron Ziegler, Mrs. Leta Leberman, Barbara Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson and Shirley Gaskins.

Especially invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vineyard. Mrs. Vineyard is a former member who transferred her membership to Centralia chapter. They are visiting friends and relatives in Harrisburg while securing living quarters in Lawrence, Kansas, where they will move in the near future.

Miss Ann Weeks Exchanges Wedding Vows With Lt. John Deghewee

In a most beautiful June wedding Tuesday the 14th Miss Charles Ann Weeks became the bride of Second Lieutenant John Deghewee in the new Sacred Heart Catholic church at Dexter, Mo., at 10 a. m. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weeks Jr., well known Dexter, Mo., family, and granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Weeks Sr., formerly Oma Pearce of Harrisburg, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Deghewee Sr. of Coopersburg, Penn.

Rev. Father Slay officiated at the double ring ceremony before relatives and many close friends. The setting was highlighted by orange delight roses and orange slip lilies on the main altar, standards of cathedral cream gladioli and wrought iron candelabra containing tall white lighted tapers.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father as the soft nuptial music played in the background. She chose an all white chantilly lace wedding gown fashioned with a basque fitted bodice to a low scalloped neckline and close fitted sleeves of lace to form dainty points over her wrists. The full skirt was styled of chantilly lace over hoops to a wide permanently pleated flounce in deep points around the breadth of the skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught together by a coronet of fashioned net, accented with seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was a swag creation of white moth orchids and stephanotis, encircling a large white orchid and highlighted with bride blue anemone, all carried on a mother of pearl Prayer Book.

Miss Virginia LaFata, St. Louis, former roommate of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sue Weeks, sister of the bride, and Miss Jeanne Warren, friend of the couple.

Attending his brother was Rex Deghewee Jr., of Amory, Miss.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Stoddard Country club in Dexter. The many guests were received near the fireplace which was decorated elaborately with arrangements of tree standards of huckleberry and majestic daisies. The centerpiece of the bride's table was the traditional white four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, under a woven archway.

The bride graduated in 1953 from the Dexter high school and on May 29 of this year graduated from William Woods college. The bridegroom graduated from University high school in St. Louis, School of Mines in Rolla and has recently completed helicopter training in San Marcus, Texas.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mittsdrfer, Harrisburg, cousins of the bride, who were in Dexter several days attending the festivities.

Prior to the wedding approximately 50 guests attended a bridal shower in the former Miss Weeks' honor at the Country Club.

Naomi Ruth Class Meets With Mrs. Lois Horner

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Parkville Baptist church met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Lois Horner for the monthly class social. The meeting was opened by the group singing "I Am Thine O Lord."

Mrs. Gertrude Hayes led in prayer and Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale gave the devotion, reading from Luke, 14th chapter, and Matthew, chapter 22, basing her remarks on the seats at the wedding.

Roll call was answered with a verse of scripture containing the word Joy. Mrs. Fannie Owen dismissed the devotional part of the meeting with prayer.

Recreation was under the leadership of Mrs. Hattie Moyer and featured a mock wedding. Mrs. Lois Lane was the bride, Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale the bridegroom. Mrs. Gertrude Hayes as Maryin' Sam performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Hattie Moyer was maid of honor. Lois Horner served as best man. Mary Long gave the bride away. Ruth Gates was the little flower girl and Mrs. Nancy Sadler played the wedding march on a guitar and sang "Always" and "She'll be Coming Round the Mountain." Mrs. Owen was the bride's mother and Fern Waddell the mother of the groom.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Horner served refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and Cokes. A picnic was planned for July 1 to be at Karel Park. The picnic is to be churchwide and includes the entire church and Sunday school.

Royal Daughters Meet With Mrs. Lucian Souheaver

The Royal Daughters of the Social Brethren church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Lucian Souheaver for the regular class social.

The meeting was called to order by the class president, Mrs. Nancy Blue, after which the class sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was sung and prayer offered by Mrs. Christine Evans.

"There are times when I wish I had a son!"

Initiation By O. E. S. Chapter Thursday Night

There will be initiation of members into the Harrisburg Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic temple. All officers and members of the chapter as well as visiting Star members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Hones Swan, Chicago, who have been at Hot Springs, Ark., for a week enjoying a restful vacation at that resort, are in Harrisburg to spend a week visiting his mother, Mrs. Walter Hobbs, 630 North Webster street, and his sister, Mrs. Archie Ledbetter and family. Mrs. Swan is the former Opal Davis of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Patterson of Tucson, Ariz., and children Tommy and Emily, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Gaskins. Mr. and Mrs. Gaskins returned recently from Colorado where they visited in Estes Park with Mr. and Mrs. Karl Andersen and at Boulder, Colo., with Mr. and Mrs. Louie George Gaskins.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas D. Patterson have returned to their home in Matthews County, Va., after visiting with friends and relatives in Harrisburg. Col. Patterson spent three years overseas in Germany and France and will be stationed at Camp Lee, Va.

Mrs. N. N. McKeel, Hudson, N. Y., formerly of Harrisburg, is visiting this week at the home of Mrs. W. A. Plumlee, where she may be contacted by friends. She is the widow of a former mechanical foreman at The Daily Register and annually spends some time with Harrisburg friends.

Pavah Whiteside, manager of Doty Shop, Mrs. Jimmy Vaughn of Nell's beauty shop, and Mrs. B. E. May are now at home after spending a week in Daytona Beach, Fla. While in Florida they stayed at the Sea Breeze Motel on the beach and on the return trip stopped at Silver Springs.

Calendar of Meetings

The Carrie Wilson circle of the Presbyterian church will be host to Sarah Wiedemann, Nella Gregg, Mary Seten, Lenore and Alpha circles and their families Wednesday at 12:30 p. m. at the church for a covered dish luncheon. A good attendance is desired as this is the last circle meeting until September.

There will be a gospel program rendered at the Galilee Baptist church of Carrier Mills, Sunday, June 26, at 2:30 p. m. by the Beams of Heaven Singers, of St. Louis, Mo. These singers consist of six young women. A cordial invitation is extended to the public. Rev. W. L. Robinson is the pastor.

The revival at the Bethel Tabernacle in Eldorado closed last night, but will begin again Friday evening with the same evangelist bringing the sermons.

The Candlelight Home Bureau unit will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Bill Gall on RFD 1.

Ex-Husband of Maureen O'Hara Seeks Daughter

HOLLYWOOD — Film star Maureen O'Hara's ex-husband sought custody of their 11-year-old daughter today through a court action accusing the actress of "openly living and consorting" with another man in the presence of the child.

Television Director William H. Price made the charge in an affidavit filed in Superior Court, asking that Miss O'Hara be declared unfit to have custody of their daughter, Bronwyn Bridget Price. A hearing on a show cause order was set for June 28.

Miss O'Hara's attorney, William B. Duce, said he would make an unqualified denial of the charges leveled by Price.

Report Shakeup of Argentine Cabinet to Replace Peron Regime

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A complete shakeup was predicted today in the Argentine cabinet.

The Canadian charge d'affaires in Montevideo said a "compromise" government already has replaced the regime of President Juan D. Peron and has repealed Peron's anti-Catholic laws.

The diplomat, Fulgence Charpentier, told the Toronto Telegram by telephone: "You don't hear any more from Peron. The impression here is not that he will remain as a figurehead, but that his resignation is being asked for."

Reports of the complete shakeup persisted although the navy ministry vacancy left in the cabinet by Rear Adm. Anibal Oliveri's part in the abortive revolt Thursday was quickly filled by the appointment of Rear Adm. Louis Cornes.

Diplomatic sources in Montevideo, Uruguay, said Gen. Franklin Lucero, the minister of army who heads the "forces of repression" appeared to be intending to set up a military junta to rule Argentina with President Juan D. Peron as a figurehead.

This would be similar to events in Egypt in the 1953 revolt against King Farouk when Mohammed Naguib was named president and the military junta which overthrew Farouk retained power.

Peron has not been attending official functions, and his name has hardly been mentioned in Buenos Aires newspapers and over the state radio which customarily lists the daily presidential activities.

An Argentine general who is a personal friend of Peron's said Peron has been too busy to attend to official acts.

He is neither sick nor detained but just plain busy," the general said.

Peron was absent Monday for example, when the nation celebrated flag day.

Another significant development came Monday night. In July 1952 after the death of Eva Peron the main official news bulletin over the state radio was changed from the usual time of 8:30 p. m. to 8:25 with the slogan "The hour at which Eva Peron passed into immortality."

Monday night, for the first time in nearly three years, the broadcast was made at 8:30 and the slogan was omitted. However the first item broadcast was Peron's thanks for the messages he received from friends and supporters.

The only newspaper mention of Peron came in a brief box carrying a similar statement of thanks.

Nehru Addresses 'Friendship Rally' in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru told a cheering crowd of 100,000 at a "friendship rally" in Moscow's huge Dynamo stadium today that "we shall soon see" Red China in the United Nations.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, speaking after Nehru, said Russia had agreed to attend the Geneva Big Four conference to contribute to "relaxation of tension."

"The Soviet government has agreed to take part in the four-power conference," Bulganin said. "We base our agreement on the assumption that this conference should contribute to relaxation of tension."

"We shall make every effort in this direction and hope that others will be prompted by the same motives."

Nehru said the world must be prevented from "committing suicide when it is on the threshold of triumph." He said world-wide adoption of the 10 "peace principles" approved at the recent Afro-Asian conference at Bandung would "greatly reduce fear."

Earlier, Nehru had announced that Bulganin will visit India on some future date.

Five Killed When Auto Collides With Trailer-Truck

SOMERVILLE, N. J. (AP) — Five persons were killed Monday night when a car in which they were riding collided with a tractor-trailer.

James Cardick of Bradley Gardens, N. J., the surviving occupant of the car was in critical condition with multiple injuries.

Police reported the truck, loaded with concrete and lead pipe, collided with the car on Route 206 near Somerville.

Police said Ralph Horton, 19, driver of the car; Steve Chonko, 17; Francis Trout, 26; Robert Lawler, 15, and Miss Lavanda Serafino, 17, all of Bridgewater, N. J., were crushed to death by the car's engine which was driven into the back seat by the impact.

The truck driver, Herman B. Walsh, 30, of Rosendale, N. Y., was treated at Somerville hospital and released. He was freed in his own recognizance by police on a mandatory auto-death charge.

SANTA CLARA, Mexico (AP) —
Thirty teen-aged boys and girls were injured Monday when the center post of a carnival "flying swing" snapped.
Some of the youths were catalyzed more than 50 feet and crashed against the walls of nearby houses.
At least 18 of the injured were reported in serious condition, the majority suffering from skull fractures. Most of them were rushed to nearby Mexico City for hospitalization.
The ancient Mayas had a five-day "month" at the end of each year, and 18 other months, each of 20 days' duration.

Set Target Date for Legislative Adjournment

city utilities gross receipts tax bill is still in committee.

May Turn to Alternative

If the Stratton-Daley program fails, then Wood will call the alternate tax increase plan offered by Powell. This bill provides for a full 1-cent increase in the present 2-cent sales tax, with half of the increase earmarked for schools, and half for cities on the basis of population.

There is growing sentiment for the Powell bill, even though the sponsor may have to agree to amend out a provision requiring cities to abate property taxes by a certain amount of sales tax revenues.

City officials prefer the Powell bill on grounds that by making the tax increase uniform, it will not drive business outside cities, as would a tax passed by a single city.

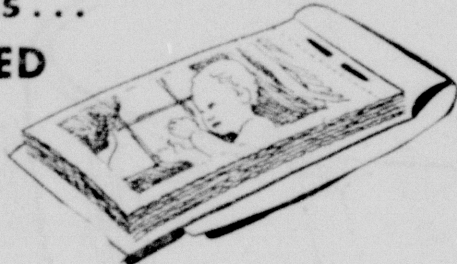

If the revenue program can be quickly disposed of, administration efforts will be concentrated on two other bills: a 55 m.p.h. night-time and 65 m.p.h. day-time highway speed limit bill, which has already been defeated in the House, and an increase in the state police force from 500 men to 600 men.

Kill Bills On Second Reading In Illinois House

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois House, continuing to close the books on the 69th biennial session ending next week, today killed all House bills on "second reading" after advancing seven measures on toll roads and one to license and regulate chiropractors.

The toll road bills advanced to passage stage and thus kept alive included two by Rep. Paul Simon (D-Troy) which would abolish the provision against judicial review of acts of the State Toll Road Commission, and require that all toll road work be let by competitive bidding.

Five other toll road bills advanced are sponsored by Rep. Jack Baird (D-Waukegan). These would repeal certain discretionary powers of the Toll Road Commission, prevent the spending of state money on highways connecting the toll roads until such toll roads become part of the state highway system, give the board of highway advisors jurisdiction over toll highways, and prevent any person assisting in preparation of a toll road bond issue to have any connection with the bond issue.

The bill to license and regulate chiropractic practice sponsored by Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) would make it unlawful for anyone to practice chiropractic after Dec. 31, 1955, unless licensed by the State Department of Registration and Education.

The House passed a bill providing for election of senatorial and representative committees to fill vacancies for legislative candidates under the new reapportionment system.

The House also passed a bill to create a commission to study the social and economic problems created by alcoholic liquors.

Killed When Pulled into Hay-Crushing Machine

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Robert Newman, 28, was killed Monday when his arms and head were pulled into the rapidly spinning steel rollers of a hay-crushing machine.

Authorities said the loose ends of the young farmers' gloves apparently became trapped between the two rollers, which were spinning at 1,500 revolutions per minute.

6,000 Ill from 'Magic Potion' During Eclipse

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — More than 6,000 persons were hospitalized in Ceylon today from "eclipse sickness" brought on by drinking a "magic potion" they thought would bring them beauty, wisdom, health and vitality.

The mixture contained vadamah, a sedative used in Ayur-Vedic medicine with ghee, a semi-fluid butter, and king coconut water. The results were nausea and diarrhea with severe stomach pains.

The mixture was recommended by an Ayur-Vedic physician (follower of the book of the Hindu science of medicine) in a Sinhalese newspaper Sunday. He recommended that it be taken at time of the total eclipse of the sun Monday for best effects.

Men, women and children flooded hospitals throughout the island and more than 1,000 victims of the magic formula were brought to Colombo General hospital alone.

The eclipse itself took a toll among careless viewers. About 50 persons were treated at Colombo Eye hospital for minor eye burns.

Warrens Fly to Sweden for 7-Week Tour of Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. Supreme Court Justice Earl Warren and his wife, Nina, flew to Stockholm today to begin a seven-week tour of Europe.

Before taking off Monday night Warren described the trip as "our first real vacation since I entered politics 30 years ago."

Illinois House Defeats Legion Textbook Bill

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois House today soundly defeated a bill to require an evaluation of textbooks if three or more citizens question the books' agreement with the American constitutional form of government.

The bill, sponsored by the American Legion, got only 45 votes to 74 against it, with 77 votes needed for passage.

The bill provided that if any three citizens connected with a public school questioned the patriotic content of any book used in teaching social sciences in that school, then the superintendent of public instruction must set up a five-member evaluating committee to study the book.

The five-member committee, consisting of three laymen and two educators, was given a five-point criteria to use in judging the book. If the book was judged incompatible with the American form of government and its removal recommended, the author, publisher and distributor of the book would have a hearing on appeal.

The bill also required evaluation of lists of social science textbooks sent out to schools by the state superintendent.

Rep. Richard Stengel (D-Rock Island) said "people with pet peeves and hallucinations could get two persons to go along with them and the superintendent would be forced to create an evaluation commission."

Continue Contempt Action Against Mt. Vernon Oilman

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — Circuit Judge Charles T. Randolph Monday continued contempt of court proceedings against Mount Vernon oil man Waller McGlasson until June 27.

McGlasson was cited when he filed kidnapping charges against two men, and then refused to testify before a Jefferson County grand jury investigating the case.

The oil man had charged that Robert C. Moffet, 22, a St. Louis poultry dealer, and an employee, James Williams, 27, kidnaped him April 12 near Bonnie, Ill., and took him to St. Louis. Moffet and Williams were released when McGlasson refused to testify.

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Frightened by the threats of Jack Bristow, a wounded man hiding in her apartment, Lucy Hamilton, secretary and girlfriend of Private Detective Michael Shayne, does not tell her boss about the intruder when he calls. Then a policeman knocks at the door and wants to search the apartment for a fugitive.

IV

The policeman jerked to an astonished halt when he was suddenly confronted by the blazing eyes and jutted jaw of Shayne instead of a shrinking female, and heard a harsh voice demanding:

"What do you mean by pushing into a private place and insulting a decent woman?"

"Can it, friend?" Taken aback and on the defensive, the policeman adopted a blustering tone and made the mistake of reaching for his stick. "Keep your yap shut before I run you in for . . ."

Balanced lightly on the balls of his feet, Shayne hit him full in the mouth. Lucy moaned faintly and covered her face with her hands as she saw Shayne's fist drive forward and upward with the weight of his body behind it.

The officious cop staggered back and caught his heel on the threshold and went over backward in the hall with flailing arms. Shayne stalked grimly into the doorway and confronted a sergeant who came running from another room at the sound of the affray. The sergeant stopped with mouth agape when he saw and recognized Shayne. He said sharply, "What's this? Get up from the floor and start talking, Morrison."

Morrison got to his feet slowly, his beefy face as scarlet with rage as the blood trickling from his mouth. "That must be him, Sarge. His hand went to his holster. 'Jumped me from behind the door and slugged me with brass knucks or something.'"

The sergeant snorted contemptuously and lunged forward to grab the half-drawn gun while Shayne lounged against the door frame and watched the tableau, his features stony and controlled. "Get back, you fool," ordered the sergeant. "That's Mike Shayne. If he had used knucks you wouldn't have any teeth left. Get down the hall with Langley and I'll handle this."

Mention of Shayne's name changed the patrolman's surly attitude to one of abashed deference, for it was commonly known in Miami that the private detective and Chief of Police Gentry were close friends. After he slunk away, the sergeant asked Shayne, "What did the big-mouthed ape do to ask for what he got?"

"Barged into my secretary's apartment and insulted her," Shayne told him coldly. "What's this all about?"

"We're hunting a killer. Slightly built young fellow. I didn't know that was Miss Hamilton's apartment," the sergeant went on defensively. "You know how it is when you're trying to work fast. Don't mind if I take a look around, do you?"

"I mind plenty," Shayne told him coldly. "Miss Hamilton tried to tell your man there was no one here. Now, I'm telling you that she isn't hiding anyone in her bedroom. That good enough or do I have to call Will Gentry?"

"That's plenty good for me," the sergeant assured him hastily. He turned back to the others who were emerging from the other apartments empty-handed, and Shayne stepped back to slam the door shut violently.

Lucy was huddled back on the divan and she watched Shayne with frightened eyes as he stalked back to pick up his drink.

"Who are they looking for, Michael?"

"Some punk they were tipped off was hiding here," Shayne's voice grated unnaturally. He shook his head and lowered the cognac in his glass before setting it down. "My temper," he muttered disgustedly. "Going to get me in trouble some time."

He grinned down at Lucy with an effort and touched the tendrils of brown hair at the nape of her neck with his finger tips. "I guess maybe I do like you a lot, Angel. Something went all over me when that lout said what he did, I'm sorry."

"I'm not," Lucy told him sturdily. "I'm glad. But," she added faintly, "I have to tell you something, Michael."

"Okay, Tell it." He waited quizzically.

"It . . . it all happened so fast," Lucy said faintly. "I hadn't time to think. I didn't really mean to tell a lie, Michael."

"What are you talking about?" His grin changed to a frown of perplexity.

"The man. He is in my bedroom, Michael."

It took the space of 20 seconds for her words fully to penetrate into Shayne's consciousness. He got to his feet slowly and Lucy could not meet his gaze.

"Do you mean that, Lucy? You let me lie to the sergeant? Use my reputation and friendship with Gentry to refuse them entry while you were hiding their man all the time?"

Lucy nodded without looking up. Tears were streaming from her eyes. She winced as though from a blow with each word Shayne spoke. There was a brief silence and still she did not dare look up. Then the sound of Shayne's heels striking hard on the floor as he strode to the outer door and jerked it open. She sat with bowed head and listened drearily to the sound of him taking the stairs to the bottom three at a time.

Search Naples for Five Wanted in N.Y. Bank Robbery

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Italian police today appealed to the Naples underworld for tips that might lead to the apprehension of four "highly dangerous" gunmen and their Canadian moll, suspected of the $305,000 robbery of a New York bank last April 6.

They also ordered a close watch placed on Charles (Lucky) Luciano, the deported one-time New York vice lord, and other Italo-American ex-gangsters whom the bandit suspects might attempt to contact.

Italian police and Interpol, the 38-nation international police agency, hoped that the lure of rewards might induce some member of the underworld to reveal the whereabouts of the five suspects. They last were reported traveling toward Naples in a black Chevrolet and were believed seeking to board a ship for the Middle East.

Police identified the five as: John Timothy O'Connell, 35, New York City.

Daniel William Maguire, 37, New York City.

Joseph Michael DiTacco, 28, New York City.

Peter Jerome Riordan, 34, Manchester, N. H.

Jeanette Forest, 27, Montreal, Que.

They are suspected of masterminding the $305,000 robbery of the Woodside, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

If he had his way, the meeting would be a time of stock-taking and of speech-making. But there were signs that some of the delegates felt something stronger was called for.

One such delegate was Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, who said he will ask the U. N. members to adopt a resolution "synthesizing the universal clamor for peace."

Romulo, who speaks Wednesday just before Molotov, said he wanted to "beat Molotov to the punch" with any "peace offensive" moves here. He added he was aware that no resolutions were supposed to be offered.

"But I feel that if we could have a unanimous agreement for peace, we should not adjourn without some expression of it," Romulo said.

Ike, Molotov Meet

Mr. Eisenhower met Molotov face to face for the first time in 10 years Monday. A U. N. official said the meeting was "enthusiastic" and that Ike flashed his famous grin as he shook hands with Molotov.

Molotov displayed his affable "new look" as he summoned a smile in response to the President's greeting.

But earlier, both men were in a more serious mood as the President issued his call for peace. With Molotov seated on the Opera House stage behind him, the President said:

"No nation has a right to employ force aggressively against any other. To do so, or threaten to do so, is to defy every moral law that has guided man in his long journey from darkness toward the light."

The President promised to pursue his program for peace and disarmament at next month's summit conference. The delegates and spectators burst into loud applause

Follow Policy of Peace Through Strength, Churchill Advises

LONDON (AP)—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today he is optimistic for the future, but warned the Free World not to expect too much of next month's talks with Russia.

He said the West should persevere in a policy of peace through strength, just in case the coming Big Four conference is not "a complete and immediate success."

Churchill, who has been a long-time advocate of a face-to-face meeting with Soviet leaders in an attempt to end the Cold War, spoke today at the unveiling of a bronze statue of himself in London's historic, 500-year-old Guildhall.

Qualified Men May Enlist in Unit Rotation Plan

"Unit Rotation" is a new Army program basically devised to replace an overseas unit with a new freshly trained stateside unit.

In conjunction with the new unit rotation plan the U. S. Army announces the famed 3rd Armored Division presently stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., has been selected as the next unit to rotate overseas. Qualified young men between the ages 17 to 36 may now enlist under the unit rotation plan direct for this division. Men who enlist for the division will begin training as soon as possible with the 3rd. Upon conclusion of training, the men as a unit, will be transferred to Germany to replace another division there.

Men taking advantage of this new plan will be the first to enjoy unit stability—something that has never been offered before.

It is suggested anyone interested in securing further information about the new plan contact local U. S. Army Recruiting representative, Sgt. George Freedle, located at the Court House, here in Harrisburg.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest for use at the Owens-Illinois' Libbey plant at Toledo to help produce beautiful and practical glassware. Not so long ago fine table glassware was rare and expensive. Today, it is abundant and reasonable in price, because modern equipment and fuels have made mass production methods possible. Natural gas-fired furnaces, in which critical temperatures are maintained, are used to "baby" the molded glass along during the cooling stage and give it its final temper. As a result, the glassware you buy is beautiful, strong and economical.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Moore is Marvel at His Age, But Grayson Has to Pick Olson

NEW YORK (NEA)—Attempting to pick the Olson-Moore winner at the Polo Grounds, June 22, you wind up in the same approximate aisle with the housewife debating soap powder.

This day time announcer goes all out for one brand and she likes him, but there's the quiz-master at night who is simply daring and he has repeatedly told her to buy the other brand.

The same here. At first, after a trip to San Francisco, this handicapper liked Bobo Olson over Archie Moore, perhaps by a knockout.

Archie Moore

We remained pretty sure of that until we took a stroll along what used to be known as Jacobs Beach. There we found most of the fight mob firmly believing that Olson was going to war with a popgun.

There were the damaging quotes by Joey Maxim and Gus D'Amato. Maxim, who fought both, flatly says that Moore punches too hard for Olson. D'Amato, who manages Floyd Patterson, asserts that he would match his young charge with Olson tomorrow, but not Moore.

This old fight writer was astonished at the lack of Olson supporters among men supposed to know. But that doesn't keep us from sticking to our first thought and an old rule. The first thought was Olson and the old rule is that whenever you are in doubt about the outcome of a prize fight, pick the younger man.

At 25, Olson is at least 12 years and 74 fights younger than Moore.

Olson for some time has had difficulty doing 160 pounds, which easily could have accounted for his lack of wallop as a middleweight. At 169 against Maxim, the Hawaiian-Portuguese-Swede barely missed belting out the former lightweight leader in the second round and had him rolling all over the floor in the ninth.

Moore men point out that Olson can't be rated as a brilliant tactician. When you see him in the first round, you see him for the next 14. He never changes.

"This, against a wily campaigner who can punch with either hand like Moore, is dangerous," they point out.

What the Moore fanciers neglect to add is that Olson doesn't change except to quicken the pace with each succeeding round.

This and the difference in age and wear and tear and the fact that Moore had to make weight makes

Bobo Olson

Olson our selection over the old pappy guy with the goatee.

Moore is a marvel for a geezer who confesses to 38 and whom the record shows to have been fighting 19 years.

But as remarkable as the St. Louis veteran has been, he's got to fall apart like the one-hoss shay one night—and this well could be the evening.

Moore has had a frightful time making 175 pounds before and there isn't any logical reason that this trip has been an exception. He had to cut down on his vitamins and work much harder than Olson, who comes to the ring naturally. Anybody who has ever made weight will tell you this hasn't done Ancient Archie any good.

Moore had to knock out Harold Johnson at Madison Square Garden last August to win. This he did with a right-hand jaw jolt in the 14th round.

If Archie Moore goes into the 14th round losing to Bobo Olson, he'll find himself caught in a cyclone.

Eldorado Merchants Win Slugging Match From Evansville Team

The Eldorado Merchants traveled to Evansville, Ind., Sunday and came home with a 13-11 victory over the Colored Tigers of that city. The contest was a slugging match all the way.

The Merchants scored three runs in the third, four in the fifth and six in the eighth. Evansville scored two in the first, two in the third, five in the fourth and single runs in the eighth and ninth innings.

Eldorado had 13 runs on 18 hits and Evansville got 11 on nine hits. Walks by Eldorado pitchers helped swell the run total for the Tigers. Eldorado had three home runs and five doubles among their 18 hits. Gidcomb, Patton and Williams hit homers and Gidcomb, Williams, Renn and Cooley had doubles with Eldorado at bat with four hits. Williams and Renn had three each. Thaxton and Cooley had two and Colbert, Patton, Grubbs and Montgomery had one each.

Next Sunday Eldorado will don their new uniforms and play Johnston City in a game on the Raegien diamond. There will be practice sessions at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday and Friday.

Romonosky Pictured Sliding Home Safely By Houston Paper

John Romonosky is shown sliding home safely in a picture in the Houston Chronicle last week in a game featuring Houston and Fort Worth.

The Harrisburg professional baseball player, entering the game in relief, had a good night at bat with two hits and one run scored in two times at bat. Then he left the game in the eighth for a pinch hitter, who grounded out.

In the pitching department Romonosky, in six innings, struck out three, walked three, and allowed six hits. He wasn't involved in the decision as the game was lost before he entered the game.

Willie Mays IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays stands at the baseball crossroads today, benched, bothered and bewildered.

Just a year ago, before he came on to win the National League batting title and player of the year honors, he actually wasn't much better off than he is right now. Not as far as records are concerned, anyhow.

But the differences figure to make another surge extremely difficult, if not impossible. Willie is tired, mentally and physically. At least one club has found out how to pitch to him and the word figures to get around. Personal problems plus the burden of fame have changed the irrepresible "say hey" kid who was able to play without pressure in 1954.

And Leo Durocher, who at the end of last season was comparing Willie glowingly to such as Joe DiMaggio, confesses that Willie is "confused" and "playing bad baseball."

The baseball statistics say that Willie isn't much worse off last season than he was at this time last season. Then he was hitting .303 and had struck only 17 home runs. Today he is hitting .279 and again has 17 home runs.

But his troubles extend beyond the averages. He was a loose and light-hearted competitor last season as he roared upward to win the batting title with a .345 mark. He fielded flawlessly, ran the bases like one of the revered Gas House Gang and got his hits when they counted.

Today Willie looks back on an early season in which he has been a dud on the basepaths with several real "skulls," inability to hit in the clutch and fielding lapses on balls which he used to put in his hip pocket. Personal outside projects which haven't worked out too well have added to his mental burden.

Yet most baseball men insist that what hurt Willie most was playing during the off season in the Puerto Rican Winter League. It robbed him of his snap.

He admitted, on his return in the early spring when most players were looking forward with relish to training camp, that he was tired.

That winter baseball at Santurce could have done him even more damage than merely draining his energies. Three who played with him were catcher Harry Chiti and pitchers Hal Jeffcoat and Sam Jones of the Chicago Cubs. They had an opportunity to study him and experiment in a manner never possible in the big leagues. It is conceivable that they discovered a weakness.

Because in 13 games with the Cubs this season, Willie has managed four hits in 51 trips to the plate for a microscopic .078 batting average. He was completely shut out in 10 of those games. And word on how to handcuff a formidable hitter has a way of spreading.

Willie was benched Sunday for the first time in his career. The rest may help and, statistically, he still could go all the way back to the top just as he did from this point last year.

But this time the odds are much higher against him.

Nick's, Walker's Win as Regular Kiwanis Play Begins

By David Nelson
Walker's Cleaners defeated the Athletic House, 6-3, and Nick's Cafe crushed the Auto Trimmers, 28-4, in the first of regular season Kiwanis games Monday.

Nick's led all the way in the first Kitty League game of the season, as they scored one in the first, 13 in the second, 10 in the third and four in the fourth. The Auto Trimmers scored three in the third and one in the fourth. Nick's scored 28 runs on 15 hits while the losers were held to eight scattered blows. Baldwin and Henshaw led the winners at bat with four hits each, as Cushist led the Auto Trimmers' offensive with two safe blows. Maszaros was the winning pitcher.

In the first National league tilt Walker's Cleaners edged Athletic House, 6-3. Athletic House led until the fifth by scoring one in the first, second and seventh, but Walker's tallied one in the first, fifth and sixth, and five in the seventh to win. Walker's got 10 hits and Athletic House collected four safeties. Parks, Vick and Byron led the winners' attack with two hits each. J. Weatherly, Shewmake, Mitchell and D. Weatherly had one safe blow each for the losers. Henshaw was the winning pitcher.

Skidding Giants Drop 5-3 Tilt to Reds; Cardinal Rookie Wins His 8th Game

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

And what is so rare as a day in June—when the world champion Giants win a ball game?

Maybe panic hasn't set in yet with the skidding New Yorkers, but it would be mighty risky for anyone to holler "fire" in the Giant dugout because it might start a stampede.

What makes it so depressing for Manager Leo Durocher's departing heroes is that June 1954 was their hottest month when they compiled a 24-4 won and lost record and took command of the National league race for good.

This year their mark is a sad 7-11, including the most recent five defeats in a row, and you can't convince even an old crap-shooting expert like Durocher that there's anything lucky about that kind of a natural pass.

Monday night, resurgent Cincinnati, cashing in on an error by starting pitcher Jim Hearn, put over four runs in the fifth inning and went on to win a 5-3 decision behind the eight-hat pitching of Art Fowler. It was Fowler's first complete game of the year after eight previous starts in which he was kayoed.

Gates Open in Fifth
There were singles by Gus Bell, Bobby Adams, Roy McMillan, and Johnny Temple and a double by Stan Palys in addition to the throwing error by Hearn that opened the gates for Cincinnati in the fifth. Dusty Rhodes had put the Giants off front with a homer earlier and they made it close for awhile when Bill Taylor pinch-hit a two-run homer in the seventh. However, Cincinnati added a final run in the eighth on singles by Hobie Landrith, McMillan, and Fowler.

Lefty Luis Arroyo, who is bidding to win "rookie of the year" honors for the St. Louis Cardinals for the second season in a row, gained his eighth victory, a 4-1 seven-hitter over the Phillies. In the only other major league game scheduled, lean Gene Conley of the Braves bested Vernon Law of the Pirates, 2-1, in a duel in which both teams made only four hits.

Three of the four Cardinal runs off Philly starter Murry Dickson were unearned, the result of a two-out error by shortstop Roy Smalley in the fourth on a grounder by Bill Sarni with Red Schoendienst on base. Ken Boyer and Arroyo followed with singles good for three runs. The run off Arroyo also was unearned, depriving him of a shut-out. He has lost only two games and is a leading candidate to succeed center fielder Wally Moon as the N. L.'s top yearling.

Braves Win Fourth
Bill Bruton figured in all three runs in Milwaukee's fourth straight triumph, including Pittsburgh's which he let in on a wild throw. The fleet center fielder singled and stole second in the fourth and rode home on Johnny Logan's double. In the sixth when Gene Freese bobbled his grounder he tried to get all the way to second and he reached that sack and sped on to third when Freese followed with a wild throw. He scored on a short fly by Logan, crashing into catcher Toby Atwell and touching off a major argument when Atwell dropped the ball. But he caused Conley to miss the first shutout of the year by a Milwaukee pitcher when Dale Long and Atwell singled in the seventh and Bruton threw the ball into the Pittsburgh dugout trying to throw out Long at third. Long scored automatically.

Heat Blankets Most of Nation as Summer Arrives

By United Press
The first day of summer today found the East and South appropriately blanketed with a muggy heat wave.

The departing spring sent a mild cold wave down from Canada which was expected to cool off parts of the northern Midwest. But it was still hot in the East, South, desert Southwest and interior portions of the Pacific Northwest.

Officially summer won't begin in much of the nation until almost midnight, starting at 10:32 p. m. CST in the Midwest.

This will be the moment of the summer solstice when the sun reaches its northernmost point above the earth, directly above the Tropic of Cancer.

That made it the longest day and the shortest night of the year. The sun rose at 4:16 a. m. CST in Chicago and was to set 15 hours and 13 minutes later at 7:29 p. m.

Spring made its last full day a sizzler in much of the nation, with highs including 111 at Gila Bend, Ariz., the low 90s in New England, 83.1 at New York City, and the 80s and 90s in parts of the Pacific Northwest.

But there was also wild weather, in keeping with a spring record of violence which included the killer tornado which wiped Udall, Kan., off the map last month.

An electrical storm hit Portland, Maine, Monday night, tipping over 16 sailboats in Casco Bay, knocking out Spring Point lighthouse, putting two television stations off the air, and injuring a mother and daughter with a lightning bolt.

Another lightning bolt killed Bruce Lee Clemens, 13, of Lancaster, Ohio, as he fished from a boat on Tawas Lake in Michigan.

Fight Results

By United Press
NEW YORK (St. Nicholas Arena) Oscar Pita, 145½, Rosario, Argentina, knocked out Gene Poirier, 147½, Niagara Falls, N. Y. (8).
PROVIDENCE, R. I.: Artie Townes, 168, New York, outpointed Billy Dockery, 165, Brooklyn. (10).
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah: Gene Fullmer, 154½, West Jordan, Utah, outpointed Gil Turner, 153, Philadelphia. (10).
RICHMOND, Calif.: Larry Vasquez, 125, San Francisco, knocked out Luke Sandoval, 124, Los Angeles. (3).

McCarthy Assured Committee Will Study Resolution

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was assured that his resolution regarding the Big Four conference will get prompt consideration from the Senate Foreign Relations committee—perhaps today.

The assurance was given by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson after he and the Wisconsin Republican tangled on the issue on the Senate floor Monday. Johnson finally blocked an attempt by McCarthy to bypass the committee.

The wrangle developed over McCarthy's resolution asking the administration to get assurances from the Big Four foreign ministers that Soviet satellite nations will be discussed at the forthcoming Big Four meeting.
